ASCS Today

By Tom Conrad

SET ASIDE- There has been considerable conversation in the county concerning the Set-Aside Program. Questions being discussed are - what can I plant, how much, and what compliance regulations are there for farmers who own and/or operate several different farms? These questions are good questions and are definitely relative to the program. First of all, the planted acreage for 1977 crops that farmers were asked to report through Jan. 15, 1978 has a definite bearing on the set-aside program. As a result of the reports that farmers made for 1977 crop acreage plantings, each farm that was reported has a Normal Crop Acreage (NCA) established for it. The NCA crops are wheat, barley, rye, oats, grain sorghum, corn and soybeans. An example of the NCA for a farm would be as follows: Let's say that a farmer had planted in 1977 -10 acres of wheat, 10 acres of oats, 10 acres of corn, and 10 acres of soybeans. The NCA for this farm would be 40 acres (10 + 10 + 10 + 10 = 40). This 40 acre NCA established for the farm is the acreage that will be used for NCA crops planted for 1978.

At this time the Department of Agriculture is calling for a 20 percent reduction in wheat acreage and a 10 percent conditional set-aside for feed grains (grain sorghum, barley, and corn). Provisions of the 1978 farm programs require that a farmer's NCA planted acreage plus set aside cannot exceed his normal crop acreage. As an example, let's take the above farm that had a 40 acre NCA. If this farm in 1978 has 10 acres of wheat planted, then 2 acres of land on the farm must be set aside or removed from production. If the farm has a total of 10 acres planted between barley, corn, or grain sorghum, then 1 acre of land on the farm must be set-aside or removed from production.

Thus far, the NCA plus the set aside would total 23 acres (10 + 2 + 10 + 1). Since the farm has a 40 acre NCA this would mean that 17 acres could be planted in rye, oats, or soybeans. The 17 acres could be divided among the three crops or just devoted to one or two crops. The important point to remember is that a farm does not have to have NCA crops planted to equal its established NCA, but that the NCA crops planted plus the set-aside must not exceed the NCA. As far as compliance regulations are concerned for farmers who own and/or operate more than one farm, regulations are as follows: Owners and/or operators of two or more farms will be eligible for program benefits on participating farms provided the NCA is not exceeded on non-participating farms when a crop subject to set-aside is planted on the non-participating farms. Furthermore, other farms not planting a crop subject to set-aside will not be required to plant within their NCA and the crops grown thereon will be eligible for applicable program benefits to all producers thereon. Another point is that each State ASC committee will determine a continuous six-month non-grazing period for set-aside land between February 28 and November 1. The period may vary by county, but farmers may graze animals on set-aside land during the remaining six months. All set-aside land must be planted to an approved vegetative cover.

ASCS will have a signup period for filing an intention to participate on farms with a crop subject to set-aside. The signup period will start on March 1, 1978 and will run through May 1, 1978. The signup is voluntary; however, farmers who do not participate will be ineligible for price support loans, disaster payments and deficiency payments.

Any additional information I receive, I will publicize and meanwhile if you have any questions about the program or signup, please ask.

Carpets Can Insulate

BLACKSBURG- Roll out the red carpet.

It doesn't have to be red, but carpeting can help insulate a house and save energy.

"Carpeting isn't often considered by homeowners as they re-examine their houses for ways to cut down the loss of heat," said Katherine Habel, Virginia Tech Extension home furnishings specialist.

"But carpeting improves the insulation value of a house and can reduce heating bills," she said.

Carpeting can decrease not only heating costs, but air conditioning costs as well. The extent of heating or cooling savings depends upon the characteristics of the carpet selected.

Habel explained that carpet insulation values increase with an increase in the thickness and density of their pile. The thickness of carpet underlays is important, too. A thick plush carpet with a cushiony underlay provides a comfortable flooring surface, while reducing heat loss in ground level floors.

Predicting energy savings is difficult because too many factors are involved. The extent of the carpet's influence upon the heating costs depends primarily upon the climatic conditions. In more severe climatic extremes, savings will be more significant. Also in cases where flooring insulation is minimal or in single level houses carpeting will make a substantial difference.

For example, in a single story home in St. Louis, Mo., with an uninsulated wooden floor over a crawl space, or an uninsulated concrete slab floor, the use of carpeting cuts down on heat loss substantially. (72% for the concrete floor and 54% for the wooden floor) In areas like Texas, the savings on heating bills might not be as important as savings on air conditioning costs.

HOW JUST ONE PERSON CAN HELP

How would you like to help provide beds for an orphanage in India, supply five leprosy patients in Asia with a six-months' supply of medicine, make bricks to complete one wall of a mission chapel?

You can. Each of these things can be done with $10 given on Mission Sunday, Oct. 23, 1977, to the Society for the Propagation of the Faith. You can bring Christ's message of brotherly love through your financial support which helps to stop disease, feed the hungry, comfort the troubled, provide education and counsel young people in the emerging Third World countries.

Through this Society, over 900 local Churches in Africa, Asia, Oceania, Europe and the Americas can be helped. Your contribution will be used to provide food, medical care, clothing and travel for mission people, catechists' training, housing and salaries, new mission stations, mission schools and student centers, social work, disaster relief, housing, medicine, food, and emergency aid to hospitals, clinics and leprosy centers.

For over 155 years the Society for the Propagation of the Faith has been the channel for collecting offerings to aid the missions. Each year, the entire General Fund is distributed as fairly and as effectively as possible, as far as the funds will go.

While most people contribute all they can, even a small contribution can do great good. The price of a candy bar can provide enough vitamin A to protect three children from blindness for an entire year, in South Asia, where 100,000 children go blind each year as a result of lack of vitamin A.

Because of the Society's services, millions of people have some place to turn in time of spiritual and physical need. They are taught, healed, loved and cared for because of you.

Although you're just one person, you can contribute to helping millions now and in the future here and around the world.

Public Hearing Scheduled On Needs Of Older Adults

The interests and needs of older adults in the Central Virginia area will be aired at a public hearing Tues., Jan. 31, 1978, at 1:30 p.m. at Euclid Christian Church, Memorial Avenue at Park Lane (across from E. C. Glass High School).

Sponsored by the Central Virginia Commission on Aging, the hearing will look into the problems facing older adults in the counties of Amherst, Appomattox, Bedford and Campbell and the cities of Bedford and Lynchburg.

The public hearing will deal completely with suggestions and questions from the community. Tuesday's hearing will be the first step toward preparation of the 1978-79 Area Plan on Aging Services. The plan will contain all of the programs to be sponsored by the commission beginning October 1 and continuing through September 30, 1979.

Once the hearing is held and programs are drawn up for next year, a public hearing outlining those proposals and soliciting further community response will be held. The second hearing on the proposed area plan will be held in April.

All individuals and organizations concerned with the role of older adults in the community are asked to attend Tuesday's hearing.

Any subject related to aging may be discussed and possible topics of conversation include transportation, day care, winterization, education, home health care, housing, nutrition, recreation and employment.

Transportation to the hearing can be arranged by calling DIAL-A-RIDE at 845-8016. Persons living outside the Lynchburg area who are aged and would like to attend the hearing may call collect.

Volunteers who are willing to serve as drivers for the service also are asked to contact the DIAL-A-RIDE program.

Further information about the hearing may be obtained in advance by calling Wallace Clair, Executive Director of the Commission, at (804) 384-0372.
